

SBB Ticket Shop in a new format.

SBB is renewing its sales system 2018. In future you can buy tickets even more simply and use the SwissPass login for business travel too.

The most important new features.

- Your purchasing authorisation for SBB Businessstravel is integrated into the SwissPass login. You will therefore have to create new login details. In future you will have the same SwissPass login for private and business purchases. After logging in to sbb.ch/en/business, you choose whether you want to purchase the ticket required privately or for business.
- As soon as you are logged in you move from the timetable to the ticket in three clicks.
- The confirmation e-mail now includes the ticket barcode. You show this on your smartphone, laptop or tablet at the ticket check. You no longer have to print out the ticket.
- You can now buy tickets via the timetable. This means that you will automatically get the correct 'via' route and the lowest-priced ticket for your journey.

Create SwissPass login.

If you already have a private SwissPass login, you can also use this for business purchases. If you do not yet have a SwissPass login, you will be asked by SBB to create one. You will then be authorised for the new SBB Ticket Shop.

Keep your old login for now.

Important: to be able to benefit from the many business customer features and new offers, SBB is provisionally operating the old and new SBB Ticket Shop in parallel. You can purchase international tickets and travelcards using the old login, and for individual tickets and Saver Day Passes you require the SwissPass login. SBB recommends that you always use the SwissPass login to log into the new SBB Ticket Shop. Depending on the products required, you will automatically be directed to the old SBB Ticket Shop, where you log in using your existing access data.
